

ITC Family & Community Relationships Master Rubric

Competency	Distinguished	Competent	Developing	Unsatisfactory	Unable to Assess
FCR1: Describes the inter-relationship between children, family, practitioners, and community contexts, their influence on families' approaches to parenting children birth to age three, and the impact on family-practitioner collaboration	Provides examples demonstrating understanding of how family structures, diversity in social, cultural, linguistic, or religious background influence families' approaches to parenting children birth-3, and to practitioners' approaches to collaboration	Provides examples demonstrating understanding of how family structures, diversity in social, cultural, linguistic, or religious background influence families' approaches to parenting children birth-3, and to practitioners' approaches to collaboration	Provides limited examples demonstrating understanding of how family structures, diversity in social, cultural, linguistic, or religious background influence families' approaches to parenting children birth-3, and to practitioners' approaches to collaboration	Provides examples demonstrating a lack of understanding of how family structures, diversity in social, cultural, linguistic, or religious background influence families' approaches to parenting children birth-3, and to practitioners' approaches to collaboration
	Describes how community characteristics, family structures, and diversity in social, cultural, linguistic, or religious background influence families' and practitioner's perspectives and interactions with children birth-3, each other, and the community	Describes how community characteristics, family structures, and diversity in social, cultural, linguistic, or religious background influence families' and practitioner's perspectives and interactions with children birth-3, each other, and the community	Describes, in part, how community characteristics, family structures, and diversity in social, cultural, linguistic, or religious background influence families' and practitioner's perspectives and interactions with children birth-3, each other, and the community	Inaccurately describes how community characteristics, family structures, and diversity in social, cultural, linguistic, or religious background influence families' and practitioner's perspectives and interactions with children birth-3, each other, and the community
	Explains how relationships among practitioners, infants/toddlers, and families can impact other child-family, child-practitioner, and practitioner-family relationships	Explains how relationships among practitioners, infants/toddlers, and families can impact other child-family, child-practitioner, and practitioner-family relationships	Provides surface explanation of how relationships among practitioners, infants/toddlers, and families can impact other child-family, child-practitioner, and practitioner-family relationships	Provides an inaccurate explanation of how relationships among practitioners, infants/toddlers, and families can impact other child-family, child-practitioner, and practitioner-family relationships
	Uses research and evidence-base to support explanation
Competency	Distinguished	Competent	Developing	Unsatisfactory	Unable to Assess

FCR2: Demonstrates behavior that reflects confidentiality and awareness of the unique role of providing services to infants/toddlers and their families	Provides examples of unique confidentiality issues and responsibilities that may arise in providing services to infants/toddlers and their families Engages in behavior reflective of confidentiality Engages in behaviors reflective of understanding the unique role of providing services to infants/toddlers and their families Identifies strategies that would support colleagues in developing and engaging in confidential behaviors and behaviors that demonstrate awareness of the unique role of providing services to infants/toddlers and their families	Provides examples of unique confidentiality issues and responsibilities that may arise in providing services to infants/toddlers and their families Engages in behavior reflective of confidentiality Engages in behaviors reflective of understanding the unique role of providing services to infants/toddlers and their families	Provides limited examples of unique confidentiality issues and responsibilities that may arise in providing services to infants/toddlers and their families Engages in behavior reflective of confidentiality on a fairly consistent basis Generally, engages in behaviors reflective of understanding the unique role of providing services to infants/toddlers and their families	Does not maintain confidentiality Behavior not reflective of understanding the unique role of providing services to infants/toddlers and their families
Competency	Distinguished	Competent	Developing	Unsatisfactory	Unable to Assess
FCR3: Engages in interactions and demonstrates practice with children, families, and practitioners reflective of a strengths-based, family-centered, relationship-based approach	Engages in strengths-based, family-centered, relationship-based interactions with children, families, and other practitioners Demonstrates strengths-based, family-centered, relationship-based practice within settings serving infants and toddlers Recognizes the strengths	Engages in strengths-based, family-centered, relationship-based interactions with children, families, and other practitioners Recognizes the strengths and benefits and supports any potential challenges of families of infants and toddlers who are learning English as a second language and/or multiple	Engages in positive interactions with children, families, and other practitioners Demonstrates supportive practices within settings serving infants and toddlers Recognizes the strengths of families of infants and toddlers who are learning English as a second language and/or multiple	Engages in interactions with children, families, and other practitioners that are not reflective of a strength-based lens Demonstrates practices that are not supportive of children, families, and colleagues within settings serving infants and toddlers Does not recognize the strengths of families of

	and benefits and supports any potential challenges of families of infants and toddlers who are learning English as a second language and/or multiple languages and families with infants and toddlers with developmental delays, disabilities, and/or other special needs, (e.g., stressful circumstances, illness) Uses research and evidence-base to support and advocate for a strengths-based, family-centered, relationship-based approach	languages and families with infants and toddlers with developmental delays, disabilities, and/or other special needs, (e.g., stressful circumstances, illness)	languages and families with infants and toddlers with developmental delays, disabilities, and/or other special needs, (e.g., stressful circumstances, illness)	infants and toddlers who are learning English as a second language and/or multiple languages and families with infants and toddlers with developmental delays, disabilities, and/or other special needs, (e.g., stressful circumstances, illness)
Competency	Distinguished	Competent	Developing	Unsatisfactory	Unable to Assess
FCR4: Collaborates with families to nurture healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being within and between infant and toddler social and cultural contexts	Provides examples of a range of strategies to promote socialization and nurture social competence in infants and toddlers within their cultural and societal contexts Collaborates with families as partners to nurture healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being within and between infant and toddler social and cultural contexts Identifies strategies that support families and other colleagues as advocates for	Provides examples of a range of strategies to promote socialization and nurture social competence in infants and toddlers within their cultural and societal contexts Collaborates with families as partners to nurture healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being within and between infant and toddler social and cultural contexts	Provides examples of strategies to promote socialization and nurture social competence in infants and toddlers within their cultural and societal contexts Collaborates with families to nurture healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being within and between infant and toddler social and cultural contexts	Provides inaccurate examples of strategies to promote socialization and nurture social competence in infants and toddlers within their cultural and societal contexts Engages in behavior that undermines collaboration with families

	family-practitioner collaboration nurturing healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being within and between infant and toddler social and cultural contexts
Competency	Distinguished	Competent	Developing	Unsatisfactory	Unable to Assess
FCR5: Employs a developmental approach to understanding and collaborating with families of infants and toddlers	Recognizes aspects of early care and education that may be emotionally salient and/or particularly difficult for families of infants and toddlers (e.g., leaving their children for the first time, the families' first experience with practitioners), and names ways to support families and ensure parent-practitioner partnerships Uses research and developmental theory to support rationale	Recognizes aspects of early care and education that may be emotionally salient and/or particularly difficult for families of infants and toddlers (e.g., leaving their children for the first time, the families' first experience with practitioners), and names ways to support families and ensure parent-practitioner partnerships	Recognizes aspects of early care and education that may be emotionally salient and/or particularly difficult for families of infants and toddlers (e.g., leaving their children for the first time, the families' first experience with practitioners)	Recognition of aspects of early care and education that may be emotionally salient and/or particularly difficult for families of infants and toddlers (e.g., leaving their children for the first time, the families' first experience with practitioners) inaccurate or incomplete
Competency	Distinguished	Competent	Developing	Unsatisfactory	Unable to Assess
FCR6: Plans and implements collaborative learning opportunities, in partnership with families, that are supportive of the healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being of infants and toddlers	Plans and implements collaborative learning opportunities, in partnership with families, that are supportive of the healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being of infants and toddlers Identifies strategies that support families and other colleagues as advocates for family-practitioner	Plans and implements collaborative learning opportunities, in partnership with families, that are supportive of the healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being of infants and toddlers	Plans and implements learning opportunities, based on family knowledge, that are supportive of the healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being of infants and toddlers	Plans and implements learning opportunities collaboration in planning learning opportunities for infants and toddlers

Competency	Distinguished	Competent	Developing	Unsatisfactory	Unable to Assess
FCR7: Designs and advocates for program policies and practices that support a collaborative team approach, with families as essential partners, in supporting the healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being of infants and toddlers	Utilizes the positive benefits of a collaborative team approach to working with families and colleagues when supporting the development and learning of infants and toddlers, including children from all cultural backgrounds, who have varying abilities as well as those who are multilingual Designs and supports program practices and practitioner strategies that can be used to encourage families to share information about home care giving routines, practices, and preferences, and support them in their parenting roles Advocates for program practices and practitioner strategies that can be used to encourage families to share information about home care giving routines, practices, and preferences, and support them in their parenting roles Supports families and colleagues as advocates and	Utilizes the positive benefits of a collaborative team approach to working with families and colleagues when supporting the development and learning of infants and toddlers, including children from all cultural backgrounds, who have varying abilities as well as those who are multilingual Designs and supports program practices and practitioner strategies that can be used to encourage families to share information about home care giving routines, practices, and preferences, and support them in their parenting roles Advocates for program practices and practitioner strategies that can be used to encourage families to share information about home care giving routines, practices, and preferences, and support them in their parenting roles	Utilizes the positive benefits of a collaborative team approach to working with families and colleagues when supporting the development and learning of infants and toddlers Designs and supports program practices and practitioner strategies that can be used to encourage families to share information about home care giving routines, practices, and preferences Advocates for program practices and practitioner strategies that can be used to encourage families to share information about home care giving routines, practices, and preferences	Engages in actions that are detrimental to developing and maintaining a collaborative team approach Designs and supports program practices and practitioner strategies ignore or undermine family sharing of information about home care giving routines, practices, and preferences Engages in actions that undermine families' sharing of information about home care giving routines, practices, and preferences

	equal participants in supporting the healthy development, learning, mental health and well-being of infants and toddlers, identifying strategies that support essential knowledge and skills
--	--	--	--	--	--

Yellow= Level 2

Green=Level 3

Orange=Level 4

Blue=Level 5